

Opening of New Parish Centre

On Saturday 15 January 2011 the new Parish Centre was officially opened by The Mayor of St Albans, Councillor Maxine Crawley, herself a resident of Redbourn, accompanied by her daughter, Megan Crawley, who is the current Chair of the Redbourn Youth Council. The ceremony was attended by over 100 invited guests, including past members of the Parish Council, members of the District and County Council, and residents of the village. Before the plaque was unveiled by the Mayor, speeches were given by the Chairman of the Parish Council, Vivienne Windle, who paid tribute to the work of Cllr David Fenton who acted as project manager, and Cllr Elaine Warren who masterminded the colour scheme, furnishings and fittings for the centre, the design of the Parish Clerk's office, the kitchen and the landscaping. The building was designed by architects Cannon, Rheinberg and Morgan and built by T&B Builders of Wheathampstead.

The Chairman said, "I am delighted that our 14 years of hard work have finally reached fruition. Redbourn now has a splendid building which will serve the community well into the future. Many councillors have been involved in the Parish Centre project over the years, and it has taken a lot of hard work to accomplish this remarkable achievement."

The original building which was demolished to make way for the Parish Centre was built in the 1940s and many residents can remember attending school there. In later years it housed the youth club and other village organisations used it occasionally. It was built as a temporary building and eventually deemed unfit for purpose in October 1997

Alli's Sitting on Top of the World

Redbourn's Police Community Support Officer (PCSO) Alli Dewar, has taken her fundraising to new heights by raising over £2,000 for her climb of Mount Kilimanjaro.

Alli Dewar took part in the hike with an organised group at the end of October to raise money for Great Ormond Street Hospital. Her godson Harrison was treated there for cancer before he sadly died aged just 18 months in 2007.

She said: "It was hard work, but really worthwhile. I am thrilled to be able to raise so much money for Great Ormond Street and I would thoroughly recommend the trip to anyone who is thinking of it. "I did get altitude sickness at the very top, but the views from the top of the mountain were breathtaking."

Kilimanjaro is the highest mountain in Africa at 5,893 metres above sea level and is the highest freestanding mountain in the world, as well as the fourth most prominent. The climb up took six days, from October 22 to 27, with camping at spots as they went. There were 11 people at the start, but only seven of them made it to the summit on day 6. They climbed the last stretch at night, starting at 11 pm, so they were able to see the sunrise of the next day at the very top.

She climbed with people including a nurse, a fitness instructor, a care worker, a banker, a physiotherapist, a mechanic, an electrician and someone from the army. Alli added: "There was such a good sense of camaraderie, even though we had never met before. And I am just so pleased that I achieved it."

"I would like to thank everyone who sponsored me or supported me in some way." There is still time to sponsor Alli at www.justgiving.co.uk/alli-dewar

REDBOURN IN BLOOM HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

The Craft Fair in October was highly successful, with a wider variety of traders which brought in many more visitors. An afternoon demonstration and workshop for autumn and winter plantings at the Herts Garden Centre was also held in October. (Don't forget to visit this local garden centre for your gardening supplies). We rounded off the year with our annual December Quiz Night, topped up with a fish and chip supper.

Plans for our 2011 Programme are still in the making, but all are welcome to attend the forthcoming talk on 'Clematis' to be held on 25th February, and a further talk is to be arranged in April. We are also looking forward to our annual trip during the week of 3rd to 7th May to Eastbourne, and gardens in the South East of England will be visited. There will also be the usual gardening and planting sessions around the village, and volunteers are always welcome to join us. For further information contact Rita Green on gandrgrgreen@hotmail.com.

because of damp, poor insulation and heating. The cost of refurbishment was estimated at £70,000. This sum was considered too much to spend on a building with a limited life span, and it was decided that the money would be better used towards the cost of a new building. The Vital Village Survey in 2004 confirmed that villagers were in support of this and work began on the project a few years later.

Firework Event 2010

Letter from Chairman of Firework Working Committee

Dear Resident,

It seems a long time ago now, but I hope you enjoyed our successful November firework display, with the display time increased to accommodate the musical accompaniment.

Your generosity through the bucket collections and raffle went towards the cost of the fireworks. Thank you to everyone who supported the event, and to our sponsors, The Cricketers, and to those who donated raffle prizes. The committee's thanks also go to all of the stewards and bucket collectors, and the many people who helped behind the scene. Profit from the event will be distributed to local charities and good causes, and a list of beneficiaries will be placed on the village noticeboards soon.

If you have any comments about the display, or can help at next year's event, please contact the Parish Office (01582 794832) or myself (01582 793756).

Best wishes,

Colin O'Donovan

REDBOURN PARISH PLAN

Redbourn needs you!

This year we are producing a Redbourn Parish Plan. This will be a comprehensive look at our village and its surroundings, assessing what residents like about the Parish of Redbourn and what they want to change. It will be our blue-print for the future, a vision for Redbourn in the years and decades to come.

The last survey of residents' views, the 2004 Redbourn: Vital Villages Report, revealed that residents wanted the old dilapidated youth centre updated with a new community facility. The new Parish Centre is the result. Residents also wanted more visible policing, and, now we have a police office in Redbourn.

It's time for a new Plan. The Government's Localism Bill will give Parish Councils the right to produce a Neighbourhood Plan which will shape development at the parish level and will be formally recognised by the local authority. Although Redbourn Parish Council will help steer the project, this is very much a community led plan. We want a wide cross-section of residents to take part.

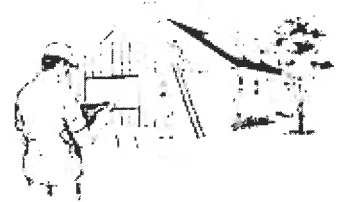

Initially, in addition to a steering group, we are setting up four committees:

PLANNING – housing development, green belt etc.

INFRASTRUCTURE – roads, parking, policing, schools, health care, etc.

BUSINESS – regenerating the High Street, employment opportunities, etc.

CULTURE & LEISURE – the commons, community facilities, village day, etc.

If you would like to be involved in one of these groups, or even chair the committee, please do get in touch. We will also welcome all ideas and suggestions, now or in the coming year. For more information, or to register your interest or make suggestions, please contact Redbourn Parish Councillor David Mitchell, the project manager, by emailing cilr.david.mitchell@redbournparishcouncil.gov.uk, or phoning or sending a text message to 07528 334 297.

MEET YOUR COUNCILLORS: Cllr David Fenton

David Fenton was co-opted to the Parish Council in February 2010. He was born in the small town of Ossett, West Yorkshire. He is married to Jan and has three children, Christopher aged 34 living in Hull, Alexander aged 26 living in Edinburgh and Victoria aged 24 living in Totnes. He comes from a traditional Yorkshire family and is one of 5 children. His father worked for British Gas for over 40 years and with 5 children to bring up, his mum was a full time mother.

David is now retired but for 40 years had a career in Buying, He started as an Assistant Buyer for a small agricultural trailer manufacturer in Hull, and ended his career as the Buying Services Vice President for the Pharmaceutical Research, Development and Manufacturing Company, GlaxoSmithKline, leading a team of over 100 people around the world spending over £3billion per annum.

This is the second time David and Jan have lived in the village, the first time in the late 1990's in Silk Mill Road and now for the last three years on The Common in the Old Dairy Farm. "I am delighted to live in a place which retains a great rural village feel with excellent motorway links and fast access to the city amenities of London"

Since joining the council David has project managed the building of the new Parish Centre and has contributed to the Parish Council Finance, Planning, Commons, Highways and Police Committees and is the Parish Council link to the Redbourn Village Museum. His considerable background in management has proved an asset to the Parish Council, so much so that David has agreed to be the first Redbourn Parish Centre Manager.

"I have a passion to help the Parish Council modernise to meet the demands of today whilst retaining the character and feel of the Redbourn village and Parish. I believe that we must preserve, as is, our greatest asset the Common. We must make sure that planning and social development is what the Redbourn residents want not what authorities think we want. We must improve the commercial attractiveness of the High Street. We must ensure that village facilities make provision for both the elderly who hold our knowledge, our experiences and our memories, and for the young who are our future"

Doggie poo remains a problem in Redbourn. If you are a dog owner please make sure that you pick up after your pet. Leaving your dog's litter where it falls for others to tread in is a health hazard, and is especially unfair to mums with prams and young children. The Parish Office has a limited supply of dog litter bags, and we are told once these have been used we are unlikely to get more.

Music Review - My Chemical Romance 'Na Na Na'

Have you ever been hit with an atom bomb that makes you feel warm and fuzzy inside? This is the best way I can describe My Chemical Romance's new song 'Na Na Na'. After not producing anything for over two and a half years, My Chemical Romance have come back with a track that will wipe out all competition for song of the year, then kick them for good measure.

The band has had to battle through the hardest challenge they may have ever faced! My Chemical Romance were blamed for creating an 'emo' cult. It was believed that this 'cult' resulted in mass suicides across the world. I would first like to point out that Gerard and co. are HUMANS. This may surprise some people but not all famous stars are processed monsters. I seriously doubt that this band would have tried to get people killing themselves because of an album.

This caused the band members such grief at being blamed for many people taking their lives and being beaten. I don't know how you would cope with it but I would not cope well with people laying that size blame on your head. Having this traumatic experience, the band had had enough of it all, they all took a break. Gerard, the lead singer, decided that he would write more comics. Being a comic writer, no one cares about who you are and what you've done, just like wearing a mask.

He then moved into a remote desert with his wife Lyn-Z. Out in the middle of the desert he could be himself and not have to face people's opinions about him all the time.

He realised out there that it doesn't matter what people think, it's what you do to change their minds. He then wrote the song 'Na Na Na' which blew his fellow band members away. This inspired the rest of them to carry on and bring My Chemical back to life with the album, 'Danger Days: The True Lives of the Fabulous Killjoys'.

Their single 'Na Na Na' took my breath away the first time I listened to it. It's definitely My Chemical Romance but with a new alive energy to them. They are even smiling after their traumatic experiences and they don't have a care anymore. The lyrics to the video are a pure work of genius on top of the most catchy tune you may hear in a long time. This IS the band to look out for in the future, again.

Film Review My time in Nanny McPhee

Hello! I am the Vice Chair of the Youth Council. I am writing this to tell you of when I was in Nanny McPhee 2. My sister and I are both signed up to a filming agency for extras and body doubles. Just days after I signed up, I was over the moon when I was selected to be a body double of the main boy, Cyril.

My first time on air was in the scene where a road was closed in London and I had to ride in a side-car of a MOTORBIKE!!! Every road, even those that were only seen for a blink of the eye needed around twenty takes. We were out on the roads for a fair few hours, but there wasn't much waiting around. Well, there was SOME waiting around, like the time we were in a hotel for three quarters of an hour just waiting. Something I do like about the filming is the FOOD!!! Might sound weird but the food is good when filming. On the other end of the scale are the clothes. The clothes are NASTY. They are really uncomfortable. But after a while, I do forget about the nasty clothes and think more of the overall experience, which rules out any uncomfortable clothes any day!!!!
